Motrec Awarded Sourcewell Cooperative Contract

Expanding Opportunities in Government Procurement

(SHERBROOKE, QC)- Motrec, a leader in industrial electric vehicles, is proud to announce its recent award of a Sourcewell cooperative purchasing contract in the utility transport vehicles category. This allows Motrec to expand its offerings to public agencies across North America.

Sourcewell, a self-funded governmental organization established in 1978, facilitates a cooperative purchasing program that harnesses the collective purchasing power of more than 50,000 participating agencies. By streamlining procurement with pre-negotiated, competitive contracts, Sourcewell enables government, educational, and nonprofit organizations to secure cost-effective and efficient purchasing solutions.

Motrec secured a Sourcewell contract following a rigorous request for proposal (RFP) process, ensuring compliance with local procurement requirements and delivering exceptional value and service. This partnership grants any public agency access to purchase from Motrec through a ready-to-use, Sourcewell-vetted contract, streamlining the public purchasing process.

“We are very pleased to have been awarded by Sourcewell, not only does it make us proud, but it also means that we will contribute to improving operational efficiency and decreasing environmental impact,” said Blair McIntosh, CEO of Motrec. “This new venture we have taken on gives further meaning to our mission to build vehicles that are unmatched in reliability, robust, agile and of great value where new entities will benefit.”
